

Thursday 4th March Year R - Home Learning Today is World Book Day!

There are some World Book Day themed activities on the school news page, you can choose to complete some or all of the activities below or make it a book themed day and choose things from the school website instead.

Mrs Marvin will be hosting a book day assembly at 9am. Her Teams link will be sent to you separately.

Maths- Have a book sort, can you put your books in size order? How many do you have? How many are there with polar animals in them?

Live lesson- Please bring your favourite book to share and talk about today at 10am

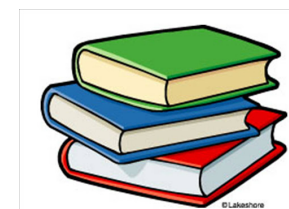

PE- Revisiting the 'sitting balance' from last week. Sitting on your bottom, balance (with your legs in the air if you can) and pick up 'snowballs' (rolled socks) to throw into a bucket or bowl. You can challenge yourself to pick them up between your feet.

Music- In this video you can explore Vivaldi's Winter with Violinist Stephanie Childress.

Literacy –Following on from yesterday, complete your information poster or book all about polar regions. It will be super to share these at tomorrow's live lesson if you would like to. Alternatively, you might want to complete some World Book day craft or writing. (Perhaps draw a picture from your favourite book, dress a teddy as a book character)

Story- Here is a suggestion for today but, as it's World book day, you might want to listen some of your favourites.
